Michigan should be glad she is rid of Pinckney. His was a running shoe to the state.

It is not what a fellow thinks as much as it is what the other fellow thinks he thinks that sets the world to thinking it thinks very little of what either the other fellows think they think. The carrying cetera will find profit if he gives this incongruity a little thought, without doubt.

What becomes of our revenue is easily explained. A few appropriations of the many will give an idea. The United States government is paying annually $141,000,000 in pensions alone to the soldiers of the civil war.

In 1860 we paid $321,973 for the improvement of rivers and harbors. In 1898 we paid $20,755,000, and in 1899 $16,082,000. The postal deficiency in 1898 was $10,504,000, and $82,110,000 in 1899, and yet the postal system was extended. The light-house establishment called for $835,000 in 1898 and $3,118,000 in 1899. This is an expensive as well as a great country, but its bills are promptly liquidated.

There is, as has been said, a question of grave international import in the Cuban debts or claims. The question has been raised by claims presented by Germany, England, etc., for losses to their subjects on the island during the prolonged war. There being no Cuban government the demand become interest to America notwithstanding this country has divested herself of responsibility for any kind of claims presented against the island. This interest lies in the idea, presented with no little misgiving, as to what this country would have to do should Germany or England present a demand and insist, by force, if necessary, on payment. The question arises, would the United States intervene to protect the island government? The question is certainly a grave one. The United States can not permit any European nation to acquire temporary, much less permanent, domination in Cuba, under any title or claim whatsoever. Cuba's debts therefore become of vital interest to America in spite of all divestment or wish in the matter.

PRINCETON FIRES.

BLAZES IN THREE DIFFERENT RESIDENCES IN TOWN.

Princeton, Jan. 5.—There were three fires in progress at one time here last night in different parts of the city. All were residences and two were of incendiary origin. The brick residence of Charles Caster was completely gutted and the loss sustained by Mrs. Annie Morgan and Mrs. Dunning was comparatively small. A reward of $400 is outstanding for the arrest of firebugs.

INSTALLATION OF I. O. O. F. OFFICERS.

Ingleside lodge No. 195, I. O. O. F., last night installed the following officers: J. T. Hutchens, N. G.; A. F. Bryant, V. G.; Fred Heilbron, secretary; J. H. Macneil, R. S. to N. G.; A. C. Hargrove, L. S. to N. G.; J. T. Powell, R. S. to V. G.; W. S. O'Brien, L. S. to V. G.; J. G. Switzer, wardens; S. R. Robertson, conductor; Ira B. Wolf, inside guard; W. M. Clark, outside guard; C. C. Walker, R. S. to A. W. Lawrence, L. S. to F. G. Rudolph, chaplain. The finance committee to serve during the ensuing twelve months are P. J. Bochenbach, George W. Oliver and Thomas L. Crice.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces, such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, 75c per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

100 YEARS AGO.

THE TRUNK LOST.

Officer Tom Orr was awakened this morning at an early hour by a dull thud in the street in front of his home near Eleventh and Caldwell. He went outside and found a big drummer's sample trunk in the middle of the street. It had evidently fallen out of some wagon and its loss was not discovered. He telephoned until he found some one to come after it, and the owner was finally found at one of the hotels.

GONE LIKE THE DEW THE YEAR THAT'S PAST.

The years—how they have passed! They are gone as clouds go on a summer day; they came they grew, they rolled full-orbed; they waned, they dined and their story is told. Years that wrought upon us in thought and deed with the force and power of eternity—years, whose marks we shall carry forever—were dissolved like dew, and their work is finished.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Collection of Teapots.

A Chicago woman, Mrs. Heisen Crittenden Adams, is the possessor of more than 300 teapots. Mrs. Adams has been about eight years in collecting this remarkable aggregation of tea receptacles and some of her possessions are extremely valuable and unique, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. She had a friend who had spent much time in the Orient and made a large collection of teapots during her residence there. This friend Mrs. Adams to emulation.

The teapots are collected from all the four quarters of the globe and each one has an interesting history. This history their owner has set down in a book, together with the date upon which the pot came into her possession. There are larger collections in the country, but few of them possess as much historic value as do those of Mrs. Adams.

From a Wife's Diary.

"Ah, me!"

"Yesterday my husband exclaimed 'Parbleu!' at golf."

"This evening he has just exclaimed 'Hoot, hoot!' at my fete champagne."

"How humiliating to be married to such a cloy of a man, with no soul, one of the finer sensibilities!"—Detroit Journal.

For a Cold in the Head

Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets.

The United States government took formal possession of Washington as the capital of the nation December 13, 1800. The beautiful city by the Potomac, which today has a population of 356,000, was then a wilderness. There was good shooting for rabbits and quail within a few hundred yards of the unfinished capitol, and Pennsylvania avenue for nearly the whole distance from the capitol to the president's house, was a deep morass, covered with alder bushes. There were in the town eighty-four brick and 111 frame houses. Only the senate wing of the capitol had been erected, and at first the representatives were crowded into a room intended for senate officials. The treasury, a small structure on the corner of the lot occupied by the present imposing treasury building, was the only departmental edifice as yet erected.

Of the presidential mansion, which was of sandstone and not then painted white, a congressman wrote that it "was built to be looked at by visitors and strangers, and would render its occupants objects of ridicule with some of and pity with others." Mrs. Adams, its first mistress, said in a letter to her daughter: "Not a single apartment is finished, and the great unfinished audience room (the east room) I make a drying room of to hang up the clothes in."

The Sixth congress, which met in Washington in 1800, comprised thirty-two senators and 112 representatives. The Fifty-sixth congress has ninety senators and 357 representatives.

The Nineteenth has been the mechanical century. It has brought forth machines which have multiplied many fold the producing power of human labor. Arkwright's spinning jenny, invented in 1815, enabled one operator to turn out as much yarn as 200 could a few years earlier. A girl 12 years old can now make thirty-five yards of printed calico daily, and her work will clothe and keep clad 150,000 persons in the east. The Goolary machine enables one man to sew 250 pairs of shoes a day, and 100 men can turn out as many boots and shoes as 500 could by the old hand processes.

In spinning carpet material one person does what 10 formerly did, and in weaving the carpet one accomplishes as much as ten in 1800. A fair loom weaver a century ago wove forty-five yards of shirting in a week; now one operator, tending six power looms, produces 3,000 yards.

D'Auber—This is my portrait of Miss Nurox, just finished. What do you think of it?

Friend—Ah! Regular summer girl pose. Rustic seat, white lace gown and even a caterpillar on her neck. Jove! That's a great touch of realism.

D'Auber—Caterpillar? Stupid! That's a diamond earring—Philadelphia Press.

Unnecessary.

Mrs. Climson—Here, Willie, while I am away I am going to give you the key to the pantry just to show you that I can trust you.
